

QUANTUM BUILDING & DESIGN HONORED BY NATIONAL MAGAZINE

WASHINGTON, DC

CUSTOM HOME magazine has honored Quantum Building & Design of Frankfort, IL as a PACESETTER AWARD winner for 2007, according to Leslie Ensor, the magazine's chief editor.

Quantum Building & Design was designated as one of the custom building industry's top achievers in 2007. They will receive the award in front of industry peers on June 19, 2007 at the Four Seasons Aviara Resort in Carlsbad, Calif. The awards are sponsored by CUSTOM HOME.

The Pacesetter Award winners, who will be featured in CUSTOM HOME's July/August issue, are a group of outstanding custom home builders chosen because of their achievements in the custom building business. Through excellent marketing, business management, design, production management, community service or innovation, the seventeen custom builders receiving this year's awards set the standard for performance in their industry.

Says Ensor, "The Pacesetter winners are among the best in the business, and we're proud to tell their stories to the 40,000 custom home professionals who read the magazine."

CUSTOM HOME, the number-one business magazine in the custom housing market, is published by Hanley Wood, LLC, the premier publisher in the residential construction industry.
